So far we have crossed the Atlantic, the Pacific, the Equator and the International Date Line!!!

It looks like the Israel trip is going to sell out in a matter of days. Somehow the word leaked out and we already have over 40 seats filled. If you want to go with Florida Air Travel, PLEASE, make your reservations NOW!!!

There are only 25 seats left on the Portland, Maine trip, so if you would like all the lobster you can eat, DON'T MISS OUT!!

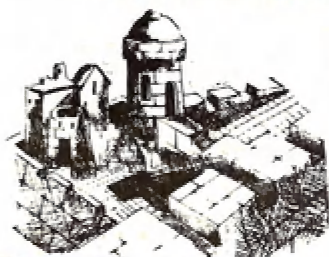

The Cancun, Mexico trip is a sell out one again. We will take standby reservations in case anyone cancels out. Just send in a regular reservation form, but no seat deposit for standby. We will notify you immediately if a cancellation comes up and you get the seat!!

OLÉ!

Enchanted islands. Mayan mysteries.

1000 years ago, Cancun was an island of unspoiled beaches in the Mexican Caribbean. Today, it still is.

1000 years ago, Mayan kings vacationed on Cancun beaches. Today, you can swim and sun on the very same.

Cancun is the rolling Caribbean along one shore – calm bay beaches along another. It is mile after mile of sand as soft as powder, and water so turquoise blue you won't believe it's real.

But, Cancun is more. It is the gateway to the vast and mysterious Yucatan – to the great Mayan ruins at Tulum, Uxmal and Chichen Itza – all a short drive from the island.

Cancun is also shopping for Mayan clothes, jewelry, arts and artifacts as well as golf, tennis, excellent seafood and all water sports. 1000 years ago, Cancun was a vacationer's dream. Today, it still is!

Southampton Princess
HOTEL GOLF & BEACH CLUB

Bermuda

Some say when the sun goes down in Bermuda the day is just beginning. Night life on the island is indeed an exciting adventure. Steel bands, limbo dancers, and calypso songs turn each night into a romantic event. And dining in Bermuda's posh hotels and fine restaurants always brings the same reaction—"superb!"

A favorite way to start the day on the island is with a refreshing gambol in the surf—kicking up a salty spray as you go. Or if it's seclusion you're after, try one of Bermuda's many sheltered coves. The coral reefs and underwater life make for excellent snorkeling and scuba diving.

A visit to Bermuda is not complete without a shopping trip to Hamilton to take full advantage of the many bargains in woolens, china, stemware and spirits. A nice way to get there is in a horse-drawn surry, complete with fringe on top.

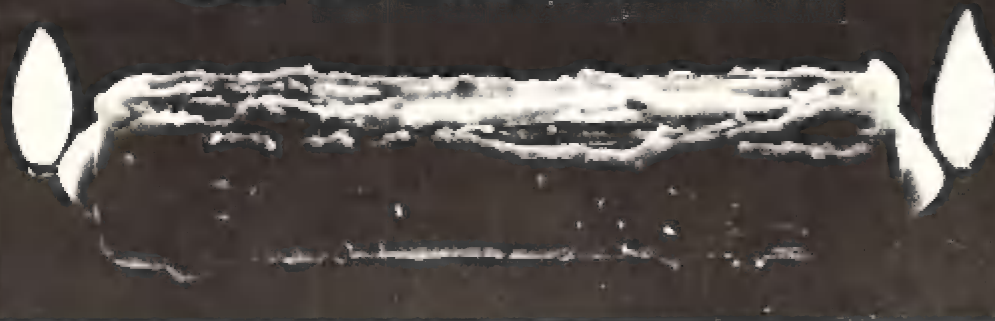

History buffs will enjoy a visit to the island's ancient fortresses in St. George, where massive cannons, now rusting in their places, once fended off pirate ships in defense of the Union Jack.

The perfect setting.

The new Southampton Princess is a complete resort world in a breathtaking setting that begins at the private Beach Club on the Atlantic, stretches across the fairways of its own 18-hole Executive golf course, and meets the sea again at historic Waterlot Inn. Near the beach are six all weather seaside tennis courts. Motor bikes can be rented directly from the hotel's own cycle livery. Breakfast and Dinner included daily

Now you can burn the candle at both ends of Bermuda.

Clean, bustling Hamilton alone is worth the trip. Fine hotels and guest houses. Sparkling, bargain-filled shops. Picturesque harbor. Tasty, atmospheric dining. And that most photographed of all people—the Bobby in the “bird cage” on Queen Street.

But why the new interest in St. George's? An exciting restoration and expansion program is adding to the 365-year-old town's attractions, without marring its 17th century charm.

Now, quite apart from the perennial points of interest that have made St. George's popular with tourists, there are charming new pubs, spacious “period” restaurants, museums and new, well-stocked shops. All meticulously maintaining the town's 17th century look.

Night and day,

Land of Beaches, Bikinis and Bossa Nova

No other city anywhere can be compared to Rio de Janeiro. Its spirit is reflected in the samba that was born closeby in the hills. Its inhabitants term themselves Cariocas but never Latin Americans. Its official language is Portuguese, yet its sound is a laugh and a song. Its major holiday is pre-Lenten Carnival, though it dances in the streets with slight provocation. Its Empire State Building—Sugar Loaf Mountain, and its Miami Beach—Copacabana, are just a few minutes apart. It is, therefore, simply Rio—most fun-loving city on earth.

Nightlife

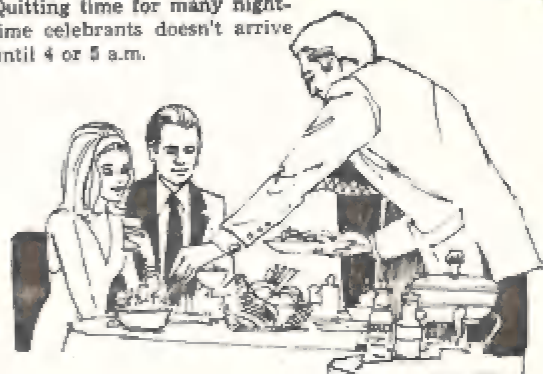

The prime requirement to do Rio by day is a good sunscreen. A walk along the expansive beaches of Copacabana, Ipanema or Leblon reveals thousands of beautiful tans, some natural, some acquired, covering thousands of absolutely gorgeous bodies of both genders, and filling thousands of string bikinis. Shops in Rio do a lively business with newcomers who try to achieve the same glow, first selling them bikinis, then soothing salves.

The beaches say a lot about the character of Rio, which is in striking contrast to the bustling commercial life of Brazil's other outsized city, San Paulo. Nowhere else in the world do so many urban dwellers live within such easy walking distance of so many miles of beachfront.

Walking casually from the apartment, the department store or the grocery across the street to the beach is part of the way of life. It is not a difficult way of life to become adjusted to.

The Rio by night takes stamina, for the Cariocas, as the natives of Rio call themselves, enjoy life enthusiastically at all hours. The big band and the big show are alive and well, and yet there's no end of intimate piano bars, chic night spots and boistrous beer halls. Whatever one's tastes, in food or entertainment, it can be satisfied in Rio.

Nightlife begins late — 9 p.m. or so — giving visitors plenty of time to freshen up after a day on the beach. It ends late too. Quitting time for many nighttime celebrants doesn't arrive until 4 or 5 a.m.

Magic

Brazil

Sightseeing is another dimension to Rio. Where else, inside the city limits, are there rainforests and mountains?

Copacabana and Ipanema are favorite areas both by night and by day. Copa is the old resort area and the location of most of the restaurants and night spots and the bargain shopping. Ipanema has replaced Copa as the "in" place to live, and it houses the more fashionable shops and boutiques and some of the top restaurants.

Coffee, of course, is the national drink. While Brazilians like it ridiculously sweet by our standards, they don't insist tourists drink it that way. Either way, Brazilian coffee is sensational, and so is the beer. Wines range from fair to good, and the visitor also should sample cachaca, a popular rum-like drink made from sugar cane. If one avoids the $1 bottles, it is worth taking home.

Giant Brasil is a country of contrasts. With the longest river and the largest waterfall. The thickest rain forest and the most deadly desert. Amazonian heat and air-conditioned hotels. Bahian slave blocks and Rio traffic jams. Catholic services and Voodoo ceremonies. String bikinis and business suits. Light, early breakfasts and late, great dinners. Discotheques vibrating to U.S.-style rock.

So seja bemvindo. Welcome to Brasil.

Lima, Cuzco, Machu Picchu

LAND OF CONTRASTS

Peru, once center of the great Inca Empire and later the major vice-royalty of Spanish South America, is a land where the ancient and modern exist side-by-side.

SIGHTSEEING

Peru is a paradise of archeological and cultural treasures unsurpassed on the American Continent. The oldest of the New World's civilizations left their ruins and their mysteries for rediscovery in modern Peru. The giant lines in Nazca, said to be proof of ancient outer space contact with our planet, the fabulous temple of the conqueror and conquered in Sechin dating back 3,500 years, the wonder cities of Machu Picchu and Chan Chan and many other marvels await the anxious visitor. These reminders of the past contrast with modern Lima, "The City of Kings," and also with some of the finest architecture and art of the Spanish Colonial period. The natural setting of all this in itself is worth more than one trip to Peru.

COLONIAL AND MODERN LIMA (CITY TOUR)

This tour includes some of the highlights of Colonial Lima, such as the Cathedral, Main Square, Museum of the Inquisition, and Palace of Torre Tagle. In addition, you will visit modern Lima's residential areas: San Isidro with its Olive Grove, Country Club and Golf Course and Miraflores with its Central Park, City Hall and main shopping center, Avenida Larco. A stop to enjoy the magnificent view of the Pacific Ocean, relax and take pictures, will be the culmination of this tour.

THE PERUVIAN TRIANGLE

Early morning transfer from hotel to train station. You will enjoy a train ride of three and a half hours through the beautiful Sacred Valley of the Incas along the Urubamba River to Machu Picchu Station. A 20-minute bus ride will take you up to the unsurpassed lost city of the Incas. A guided tour of the magnificent ruins will follow. After lunch at the Machu Picchu Lodge, return to Cuzco, where you will be transferred to your hotel.

PERU

Land of Contrasts . . . Where Two Worlds Meet

SHOPPING

Peru is a veritable supermarket of handicrafts. It is one of the best places to shop for silver and gold jewelry. There are many handicraft (artesanias) markets featuring alpaca and llama rugs, shawls and ponchos, native pottery, finely-woven straw mats and baskets, handcarved gourds, ceramics, jewelry and woodwork. Prices are comparable to those of other countries and some bargaining is to be expected in the markets.

CLIMATE AND WHAT TO WEAR

Peru may be visited any time of the year. It has a moderate climate year round with some variations in the zones. Summer in Lima is from December to April; the mild winter is from May to November. The coast has a mean temperature of 70°F, with a mean of 64°F in the jungle. In summer light clothing is advisable for Lima. Beaches are 20 minutes from the hotel area. Surfing is now an international sport in Peru. Cuzco is 11,400 ft. above sea level. Its rainy season is from December to April. A raincoat, flat walking shoes and warm informal clothing are needed.

MOCHICA GATE TO GOLD MUSEUM

This museum has a fascinating private collection of over 8,000 gold pieces, which evidence the great skills of ancient cultures such as Chavin, Paracas, Lambayeque, Mochica and Chimu.

"Talk about all-inclusive."

TOTAL PACKAGE INCLUDES: Shared air fare, Hotel accommodations; 5 nights Lima, 2 nights Cuzco, continental breakfast every morning. Round trip air Lima to Cuzco via Aero Peru. The Excitement of It All

A sense of "something excitingly fine" crowds the streets of Mexico City, too. From the broad and stylish Paseo de la Reforma to the narrow market streets near the National Cathedral. From bustling Insurgentes to the vast open space of the Zócalo. From a Saturday noon in Alameda Park to a Saturday midnight in mariachi-crammed Garibaldi Plaza. And anywhere along the elegant avenues of the fashionable Pink Zone, a concentration of the city's finest shops, galleries, restaurants, clubs and discos.

Mexico City, the capital, has a metropolitan population of over eight million. There is nothing like it in the Western Hemisphere. It is a modern city with wide parkways and promenades, with progressive architecture and ancient buildings — because this was the seat of the Aztec Empire called Tenochtitlan and described by Diaz, in the time of Cortez, as "the most beautiful city in the world." You can see a model of it in the Museum of Anthropology. Modern Mexico City has retained that tradition of beauty and embellished it through the centuries. The Paseo de La Reforma has the atmosphere and flavor of Paris. The Palace of Fine Arts rivals the Paris Opera and it's here that the world famous Folkloric Ballet is regularly presented for proud citizens and bedazzled visitors. Alameda Park was planned by a Spanish Viceroy in the 16th Century and even in these hectic times makes you realize that idleness is a fine art. The mosaic facades of some of the buildings in the University City such as the Central Library, Dean's Building, etc. represent the work of Juan O'Gorman, Siquerros, Chavez Morado, Mexico's foremost muralists. The charms and surprises of Mexico City are seemingly endless — and at night it becomes more sophisticated and elegant than you can imagine — with dozens of great restaurants, international entertainment and an excitement that is uniquely Latin. A city with something for everybody — a place you will never forget.

Fun For Everyone!

Fiesta Palace

"Every night is New Year's Eve." "Fiesta" was the idea. "Fiesta" is the reality. From the drawing boards to the finished product—25 stories 700 rooms, 4 restaurants, 2 nightclubs and 6 bars—the Fiesta Palace is designed to provide a totally modern "Fiesta" attitude for business and vacations in the heart of Mexico City.

Location: Broad, beautiful Reforma Boulevard. From here, you'll head for the Pyramids, bullfights, museums, art galleries and some of the most rewarding shopping known to man (and, of course, woman). Fiesta Palace puts you in the center of the color, the fun and excitement of one of the great vacation capitals.

fabulous NEW YEAR'S PARTY

A chance to return to where the world began.

12 DAYS
SPEND
PASSOVER & EASTER
in Jerusalem

See one desert sunrise, take one step in Jerusalem, speak to one smiling face.

In that instant, you'll understand why Jerusalem is a magnet for Jew, Christian, Moslem. For here Moses received the Ten Commandments, Christ grew to manhood, Mohammed ascended to heaven. Here, even non-believers are spellbound by the country's history, vitality, courage and a strange and fascinating beauty.

One of the oldest nations, Israel is also one of the youngest. Its recently settled 3 million people come from 102 countries scattered around the world.

Which is part of the reason why modern Israel is more than the author of Old and New Testaments. More than ancient fact, Biblical tradition and history-changing archaeological finds.

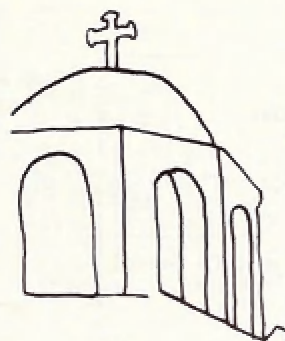

Center of the action is Tel Aviv, the country's youthful and growing business capital that is rapidly becoming the premiere sun resort of the Middle East. Sidewalk cafes are a way of social life, nightclubs and discotheques are plentiful. And French, Oriental, German, Austrian, Rumanian and Russian restaurants all have their say in defining Israeli food.

Israel, too, is the only country with year round resorts on four seas: the Mediterranean, the Red Sea, the Dead Sea and the Sea of Galilee. Shopping everywhere is a bargain hunter's joy. More diamonds are cut in Israel than anywhere else. Handcrafted gold and silver jewelry is intricate and beautiful.

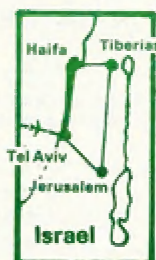

A night on a kibbutz is like being in an oasis, a green and fertile miracle surrounded by barren rock and desert. And a walk around the Old City of Jerusalem—day or night—is an unmatched emotional experience, regardless of belief.
